#28 with a bullet: Bucharest's "Kristal Glam Club"

Already renowned as one of the best clubs in Eastern Europe, "Kristal Glam Club" in Bucharest now ranks among the finest in the entire world—a true temple to dance.

Straubing, June 2007: The guys behind Bucharest's "Kristal Glam Club" don't let the grass grow under their feet. Top DJs like Sander Kleinenberg, Paul Van Dyk, Sasha, Deep Dish and David Morales come and go in a continuous stream, whilst events like the "Sunwaves Festival" and "Amsterdam Sensation" have established the club's reputation as a place where a great night out is guaranteed. No wonder it's just been voted Rumania's best club for the fourth year running. But that's not all. In addition to the variety of attractions and visually striking interiors, a recently extended 20,000-watt DYNACORD alpha concept sound system (originally installed at the end of 2004) has helped make the "Kristal Glam Club" one of the finest discotheques in the entire world. In fact, the 1,000-square-meter complex, which already occupies the 28th slot, is currently rocketing up the world rankings.

The awe-inspiring alpha system and spectacular optical attractions—including a state-of-the-art laser show and no fewer than 17 video screens—invariably render the desired effect... so much so that DJ Luciano, in a recent interview with the scene magazine DE BUG, went as far as to credit the club, which can accommodate up to 1,500 guests at a time, with leading the world-wide techno revival.
